FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 7.—The banking house of Nason & Milne suspended to-day. The suspension caused some excitement at first.

Crooked Whisky.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Internal Revenue Supervisor Fulton, of this city, has received instructions from Secretary Bristow to proceed at once to Chicago to attend the trial arising from the seizure of distilleries, etc., made by him in May last. The secretary directs the supervisor to be prepared with evidence for the prosecution of each person indicted, as no promise or understanding has been or will be made looking to a compromise of any cases. Fulton will leave Monday for Chicago accompanied by the witnesses and all the evidence collected in the East to prove the duplication of packages. The treasury department has knowledge that certain large liquor houses in this city have been dealing in crooked whisky. Most of them have been called on to explain by Supervisor Fulton, who states that while there is no doubt that these houses have been dealing in the crooked, yet there is no positive evidence they did it with guilty knowledge.

Increased Freight Rates.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The advanced rates for freight from this city to the West will go into effect Monday next, on the basis of 75 cents per 100 pounds for first-class freight to Chicago. This rate is to be uniform on all trunk lines going west from this city and Boston. A special from St. Paul says advices from Fort [illegible] report Sitting Bull and the hostile Sioux in camp on the Yellowstone, 96 miles above the Fort. Their numbers have been increased by the young braves from the lower agencies who are dissatisfied with the peace policy of the older chiefs. Several murders occurring last fall on the Upper Missouri have been traced to the Indians now with Sitting Bull.

Stokes' Application for Pardon Denied.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Gov. Tilden after examining the papers and petition of Edward S. Stokes for pardon, [illegible] the application.

Authoritative Expression of Democratic Financial Policy.

The Democratic leaders intend an authoritative expression by the Democratic House of Representatives on the financial policy shall be made soon. The plan generally favored aims at resumption through compelling the banks to accumulate part of their reserve in gold, and directing the treasury to hoard all supplies of gold with a view of renewing specie payments as soon as enough for the purpose is hoarded. The trouble is to tell what is enough. It is also contemplated to repeal the clause adopted in the last Congress fixing the day for resumption. The repeal of the legal tender act and the contraction of currency are not included in the plan.

Step towards War with Mexico.

The Sun considers the House resolution for special inquiry into the Mexican robber incursions into Texas the first step toward a war with Mexico. If Mexico cannot restrain her bandits and will not authorize the United States to repress them by effective pursuit on her soil, public sentiment tends towards the employment of force to compel ample redress.

Pacific Mail and Union Pacific Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The Commercial Advertiser says since 1 o'clock a very bearish turn has occurred in Pacific Mail and Union Pacific stock, two of [illegible] favorites, which influences adversely, to some extent, the whole list of speculatives. The 60 days' notice from the Panama company to the Pacific Mail, to end the existing contract for crossing the Isthmus by the latter, is on to expire and as the fight between Trenor W. Park and Jay Gould is the great rival operators on the stock exchange still goes on, the Pacific Mail suffers from the threat of competition of a new line of New York and California steamers under the favor of the Panama company, but as an individual of private enterprise. This threat implies that the Panama company for themselves will not violate their contract by running steamers [illegible] will make terms with a private line over their road in [illegible] against the Pacific Mail. The decline in the Union Pacific stock is [illegible] trouble with others [illegible] bids for stock [illegible] though the price was [illegible] per cent [illegible] yesterday.

George Vining a [illegible] English actor, is dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Oakey Hall retires his play of The Crucible from Park street theater to-night but expects to try its success in the provinces. The announcement of his abandonment of the stage, therefore, is premature.

Ex-Mayor Hall and the Crucible.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Ex-Mayor Hall and play the Crucible retired from the stage of the Park Theatre to-night. The house was as crowded and enthusiastic as on the first night. Mr. Hall made an address in which he thanked the people for the support he had received from them. He said that his enemies and friends differed as to whether he could act or not; that he had tried to drop legal harness in vain, but found he should die with it on.

Osage Ceded Land Case Decided.

LAWRENCE, Ks., Jan. 8.—It is stated that intelligence has been received here, from Washington, that the supreme court by a vote of 6 to 2 has decided the celebrated Osage ceded land case in favor of the three railroad companies. It is believed, if rumors prove true the companies will make satisfactory terms with bona fide settlers.

Rich Gold Quartz.

CHEYENNE, Jan. 9.—A very rich deposit of gold has been struck in the Centennial lode near Laramie City. At a depth of 100 feet a large body of quartz was found showing a greater amount of free gold than was ever before seen in any rock. Large solid masses of this rock will be sent to the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON CITY.

No More Changes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Secretary Chandler authorizes the statement that no further general change is contemplated in the interior department and it is useless to make application for appointment.

More of the Mint.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The President sent the following message to the Senate to-day:

In reply to your resolution of the 27th of February last requesting the President to institute inquiries as to the proper place for establishing a branch Mint at some point in the Western States or in the Mississippi valley, I transmit herewith the report and accompanying papers of the Director of the Mint who was charged with the duty of making the inquiries called for by said resolution.

U. S. GRANT.

Dr. Linderman in his report states that he has visited the cities of Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Kansas City and Denver and examined their advantages respectively with reference to the establishment of the Mint. He says the principal commercial and railroad centers in the West are St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Omaha and Kansas City. All offer ample facilities for economically conducting the Mint operations, both as respects the cost of the necessary supplies and rate of labor. They also possess sufficient facilities for distributing coin to the cities and towns of the Mississippi valley. For the coinage of silver it is not very material as to which of the cities referred to shall be selected for the location, for under the law such coinage, with the exception of the Trade Dollar, must be on Government account exclusively, and the bullion required for the same procured by purchase, will come chiefly from different reduction and refining works hereafter referred to. It is important, however, to avoid delay and particularly the expense which would attend the construction of a new edifice, and which may be accomplished by utilizing some of the Government buildings no longer required for other purposes. The only Government buildings in the West adapted for Mint operations are the U. S. Arsenal at Indianapolis and the U. S. Post Office at St. Louis. The latter will not be vacated until the completion of the new United States buildings, which will require probably three or four years. The edifice at Indianapolis, it is believed, is no longer required for the purposes to which it has hitherto been devoted, and could be converted into a mint at moderate expense within three months. If it be the intention to establish a mint in the Western States for the coinage of silver only and assuming that the arsenal building can be vacated and turned over for use as a mint, the true policy would appear to be to locate it at Indianapolis. Having stated my conclusions as to the location of the mint for the coinage of silver, I deem it proper to refer briefly and in general terms to the minting requirements of the territory known as the Mississippi valley. That extensive and highly productive section will require in the near future a considerable coinage of gold and silver. If the demand is to be met by one mint it should be located at a point as near the center of the valley as practicable, having reference to procuring cheap supplies and facilities for receiving bullion and distributing coin. St. Louis being situated nearer this center than any other principal city or railroad center and possessing equal advantages in other respects for conducting coinage operations, would appear to be the proper location for the establishment of a thoroughly equipped mint of capacity for both gold and silver coinage, equal to the requirements of the present and future.

The Texas Pacific.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Information indicates certainly that the House railroad committee strongly favors Tom Scott's Texas Pacific Railroad measure but it is not yet fully determined to press it to a vote this session. Many who secretly favor the measure prefer to postpone definite action until after the presidential election.

Minister Washburne and the Presidency.

Minister Washburne's late Paris letter is not an absolute refusal to allow the use of his name for the presidential election as stated. It only modestly expresses a doubt of his availability, with his old fashioned notions and his record loaded down in opposition to all the great interests that control political conventions and he declines to take any action of his own in the way of candidature. In short he is completely in the hands of his friends.

Ex-Congressman Packard Appointed Internal Revenue Agent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Gen. Jas. Packard, ex-representative in Congress from Indiana, has been appointed internal revenue agent.

Trouble with Red Cloud Agency Indians Feared.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The Chicago Tribune's special says that at a meeting of the House committee on Indians affairs, representative Seelye, of Massachusetts, called the attention of the committee to the fact that there was imminent danger of an outbreak at Red Cloud agency, on account of lack of provisions, the supply of which will be exhausted on the 1st of February if not sooner. Indian Commissioner Smith is preparing a communication which will be sent to the House on Monday setting forth the facts. It appears the council at the Red Cloud agency have attracted an unusual number of Indians to the agency and the whole year's supply of provisions have been exhausted. It is expected that an appropriation of $150,000 will be required to meet the exigency. There is danger that the House may not act with sufficient celerity, for if the appropriation were already made there would be none too much time for the provisions to be purchased and forwarded to the agency.

First Meeting of the Committee on Pacific Railways.

The same special says the committee on Pacific railways held its first meeting yesterday and considered briefly Tom Scott's subsidy scheme, but no action was taken. The chairman, Lamar, and one other of the committee were absent, and so the committee adjourned for a week. There is a deep seated conviction in the minds of all the opponents of the Texas Pacific scheme that the committee is irrevocably committed. Tom Scott's friends say he has not yet decided to make an effort to push his measure through at the present session, but that if he does he will not attempt it; he will come to Washington and lead his fight in person with the necessary sinews of war. His previous measures in Congress are sufficient to show his power when he once makes up his mind.

Headquarters of the North Atlantic Squadron.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The concentration of naval vessels at Port Royal is in pursuance of the general plan of the Secretary of the Navy to make that place the headquarters of the North Atlantic. The [illegible] presents many advantages over any other point on the coast. The climate is very healthful. The harbor offers every facility for the exercise of naval tactics. [illegible] can reach Cuba [illegible] our interests [illegible] within forty [illegible] the policy of the Secretary to have the home squadron [illegible] emergency which may arise.

Mediation between Spain and Cuban Insurgents.

[illegible] the President [illegible] a few weeks will [illegible] Cuban affairs [illegible] United States will pursue its own policy even at the cost of war with Spain.

Paymaster Spaulding's Arrest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—It is admitted at the Navy Department that the arrest of Paymaster Spaulding at San Francisco is the result of official inquiry [illegible] The details of the investigation will not be given by the department as the Secretary [illegible] the court of inquiry in that case should be made public. A court martial will soon be ordered for the trial of Paymaster Spaulding.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Postoffice established: New Era, Clackamas county, Oregon, Jos. Castro postmaster. Discontinued: Tumwater, Thurston Co., W. T. Postmaster appointed—Alfred P. Owen, Empire City, Coos Co., Oregon; W. G. Allen, Hood river, Wasco Co., Oregon; Alex Brown, Silverton, Marion Co., Oregon; John J. Chala, Brush Prairie, Clarke Co., W. T.

Bills before Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Piper's bill in aid of the construction of the sea wall at San Francisco, proposes an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the purpose. He thinks the commerce of San Francisco has claims for national aid of this kind, no less strong than others that have been advocated by Congress or are now urged upon it.

Luttrell's bill to carry into effect the Hawaiian treaty, merely embodies in the treaty's schedule of articles to be placed on the United States free list. The bill respecting a California Narrow Gauge Co. grants the right of way over the Benicia reservation.

Sargent's bill grants the right of way through this reservation to the Northern Railroad Co., and all others provided the location and width be approved by the Secretary.

Luttrell's bill to survey the Sacramento river appropriates $[illegible],000 for the survey between Folsom and the mouth of Spring creek.

Lane's harbor improvement bill appropriates $200,000 for Coos Bay, and $100,000 for the mouth of Coquille river.

The Mitchell and Kelly bills for the opening of Umatilla reserve to settlers requires the removal of the Indians now occupying it either to Nez Perces, Fort Hall or Yakima reservations, provided the chiefs of the Walla Walla and Umatilla tribes and Indians on the last reservations consent to such an arrangement. As an inducement to the former it is proposed to continue the annuities for ten or twenty years.

The resolution inquiring into navy yard frauds for partisan purposes empowers the committee to call persons and papers. [illegible] that Mare Island affairs will be ventilated.

Page's resolution inquiring into fraudulent entries under the soldiers homestead act is applied first to recent entries of timber lands in California. The land office however holds these entries were within the letter of the law, so it is improbable that entries heretofore made will be suspended. The commissioner of the general land office thinks the existing law defective and shows that under its operation the intended beneficiaries have received a minimum of benefits, the larger profits going to speculators. He suggests as a partial remedy the amendment of the act of March 3, 1873 by adding a provision requiring applicants to make oath that they have not made any agreement by which the title [illegible] acquired from government shall inure to benefit any other person except himself, and forfeiting all title in the land against both applicant and grantee in case of perjury. He suggests as the surest remedy however the restoration of the law to its original form, permitting additional entries to be made only where vacant lands are found contiguous to the soldier's original tract. Page will urge early action on the subject.

Superintendent Appointed.

At Sargent's instance Oliver Hyde of San Francisco, was appointed Superintendent of Machinery at Mare Island navy yard, vice E. T. Armstrong thereby removed.

Military Reserves to be Turned Over to the Interior Department.

The Secretary of War in an official communication to Congress invites attention to his recommendations made two years ago, to turn over to the Interior Department, for disposition as public lands military reserves Camp Brown, California, Camp Crittenden and old Camp Grant, Arizona. He says they are no more needed for military purposes and their custody involves useless expense.

Anti-Chinese Bill.

Piper's anti-Chinese emigration resolution will be supported by the entire Pacific coast delegation, but Eastern members are generally either indifferent to the project or believe cheap labor so valuable to the country that only hard work will effect any result.

Sargent's Resolution Concerning Pacific Railway Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Sargent freely declares that one expected result of his resolution of inquiry relative to Pacific Railroad affairs is a searching investigation into the operations of the finance committee and the Central Pacific directors. The Senator declares his purpose to attest his earnestness by furnishing the judiciary committee all possible aid.

No Trouble at Red Cloud Agency Apprehended.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs does not apprehend any trouble at Red Cloud agency on account of the failure of supplies. Congress will be asked for an appropriation to bridge over the time between this and the end of the fiscal year and in the meantime the Commissioner thinks he will be able to issue rations as usual.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A Washington special says the commissioner of Indian affairs thinks temporary arrangements can be made so that there will be no trouble at the Red Cloud agency on account of the want of supplies. The supplies have been bought but there is no money to pay for them. Delegate Steele of Wyoming says he expects no outbreak.

Serenaded.

Representatives Fort of Illinois, and Kasson of Indiana were serenaded to-night by their Republican friends including Union soldiers, at Willard's hotel. The former having offered a resolution in the House of Representatives instructing the elective officers to give the subordinate places to well qualified Union soldiers in preference to soldiers who were in the late Confederate army, the latter offered a resolution declaring that, all other things being equal, the soldier should have the preference over civilians in emoluments, public offices, etc. Each made an address in support of the principles announced in their resolutions and were frequently applauded.

Mail Service.

The postoffice department to-day ordered mail service on the Visalia railroad, from Visalia to Goshen California, commencing Jan. 21.

The President and the Union Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—After Representatives Fort and Kasson had been serenaded last night for the interest they manifested for Union soldiers in the best available office and emoluments as expressed in the resolutions offered by them in the House of Representatives, those composing the procession proceeded to the White House and a committee informed the President of their object. He appeared on the front portico amid cheers, and said he was very glad to meet them and gave them assurance that his heart beat in sympathy with theirs and he would do all in his power for the Union soldiers. Several of those who lost their places under the recent organization of the House have already been provided with office and others it is said are to be cared for in the same way.

Democratic Disinclination to Inquire the Cause of the Naval Preparations.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The Tribune's Washington special says the Democratic members thus far show singular disinclination to inquire into the recent enormous naval preparations which are still going on at a somewhat less rapid rate. Some private inquiries have been made, however, of Secretary Robeson who replied that when the preparations begun he anticipated war. Perhaps some of this delay at catechizing the administration is due to the fact that President Grant sent for Wm. Whitthorne, chairman of the House committee on appropriations, soon after he was appointed and told him the explanation of the naval activity would be forthcoming at the proper time. It is understood the House committee on foreign affairs has notified Secretary Fish it desires to be informed concerning the state of our relations with Spain. There is a new rumor that there is to be immediate concentration of our available naval force at Port Royal, S. C. The large receiving ship New Hampshire now at Norfolk is to be at once towed to Port Royal as the store ship of the squadron. Several ships from Europe are daily expected at the new rendezvous.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The Chair laid before the Senate a message from the President enclosing the report of the director of the mint in answer to the Senate resolution of the last session in regard to the proper place for a branch mint in the Mississippi valley. It is lengthy. He advises Indianapolis at present as the United States arsenal there can be used without the cost of building, but that for permanent location St. Louis is the point. He says it will be necessary for the growth and wants of the country to have a mint in the latter city. Ordered printed and to lie on the table.

Clayton submitted a preamble and resolution instructing the Judiciary committee to inquire into the expediency of establishing one or more inferior courts in the Indian territory for the trial of minor offenses, where the Federal court now has jurisdiction. After some discussion the resolution was referred to the judiciary committee.

Bogy moved to reconsider the vote by which Morrill's bill was referred, and said he desired to speak on the subject and if the vote by which the bill was referred was reconsidered he would move to postpone further consideration of the bill until the first Monday in February. Bogy said he was in favor of specie resumption. He [illegible] not make any motion [illegible] oppose any [illegible] which [illegible] interests [illegible] [illegible]

Morrill said he [illegible] the Senator would not ask [illegible] He moved [illegible] to [illegible] consider [illegible] next Monday.

Edmunds inquired how a national bank could resume as long as the government did not. It could redeem its note with a greenback, which had been made legal tender.

Morrill argued that by compelling national banks to have a portion of their reserve in coin instead of legal tenders there would be no diversion of the security which depositors had.

The Times and the Carlist Batteries on the Coast of Spain.

The Times in a leader says the notice in the Gazette of Jan. 8 warning mariners not to approach the Spanish coast east of Bilboa on account of the Carlist batteries planted there will suggest the thought that our government is treating a serious matter too lightly. Being at peace with Spain we have the right to trade with any part of her territory. The government of Spain is bound to protect the property of our countrymen when within three miles of her coast. Were any of our seamen murdered, or ships burned in one of her harbors, we should insist on punishment and compensation to be made. Spain might plead its too weak control, its unruly subjects and too poor pay. If such an excuse were false we should invite that government to do justice or prepare for reprisals, which would amount to a declaration of war. If the government were really powerless we should have the right to take its place and defend the lives and property of our subjects. These elementary facts suffice to show the duties of our government in the present case. If the Carlists injure any British ship we must look to Madrid for redress. Either King Alfonso or we must assume the police of the Spanish coast. The plain duty of Spain is to place a fleet on the coast, such as will silence the Carlist battery. If the government will not protect its own coasts it must pay for the damage rebels do. We fail to see why Spain should be freed from the duty of guarding her own coasts. Her navy is so strong that in case of a rupture with the United States she would have a great advantage in the commencement of the struggle. Some vessels may be stationed off Cuba. That is an arrangement with which we cannot concern ourselves. If Spain insists on having the luxury of rebellious colonies when wasted by civil war at home she must take the consequences. The article says there has been habitual leniency shown by other powers to Spain, the result of which is her statesmen presume them to countenance foolish and treacherous acts. It would be better for all parties if Spain was held accountable for her actions. The United states might set a good example by insisting that Cuba shall be no longer allowed to become the plague instead of the pearl of the Antilles. The article concludes by recommending that Spain be told that she will be held accountable for every shilling of damage done to foreign vessels by the Carlist shells, when doubtless after some preliminary bluster the remedy would be found easy and Spain would see clearly the danger of dallying with civil war.

MONDAY MORNING JANUARY 10 1876

IN A FIX

Mr Congressman Fort appears to be a man who can see the point That is a bad sort of man to have on the opposite side. This is the way it worked the other day A resolution was introduced into the House declaring the obligations of the nation to the soldiers who fought to preserve its existence and that in the distribution of official patronage a preference should be given to that patriotic class qualifications and so forth being equal. Such declarations, it must be admitted, do not amount to as much in the practice of those who have the making and unmaking of men in the official way Indeed, one is sorely tempted to adopt the uncharitable conclusion that the intention of those who are most forward in this peculiar method of demonstrating their high appreciation of the sacrifices made by the soldiers, extends no further than the bare expression It was doubtless understood by the Democratic representatives at least, and most likely the greater number of the others, that the resolution introduced into the House was to have no practical application in that, or any other political body So the Democrats, with one accord said amen, and the resolution went through nem con But this idea was a delusion and a snare When Mr Fort followed it up by another resolution requiring its application in the selection of persons to fill the various positions at the disposal of the House the eyes of the Democrats were opened They were opened very wide And the wider they were opened the plainer did it appear that their Democratic possessors were in a fix For the patronage of the House had just been distributed by the Democrats, in pursuance of the behests of a party caucus, and had not been distributed exactly in the way indicated by the resolution just adopted, but "on the contrary quite the reverse" Soldiers who fought for the government had been passed over in favor of soldiers who fought to destroy it Qualifications and so forth being equal a discrimination [illegible] made, but it was a discrimination against instead of for the soldiers who had periled their lives to save the country There appeared to be a tolerably clear case of self stultification on the part of the Democratic majority There was some squirming then It is a safe inference that those whose ox was not gored enjoyed a good deal of circus and opera and such like just at that juncture, without having to pay for at. But Mr Fort's resolution was not accepted with such alacrity as the previous one, of which it was but the logical sequence But it was not a very good resolution to slaughter, under the circumstances At last accounts the resolution was in limbo and the Democrats in a perturbed state of mind We shall wait with some interest for the committee of eleven to determine what course with reference to the matter, will best "promote the power of the Democratic organization" which when they have determined they will report to the party caucus, and they to the party leaders in the House and they to the House in regular session, and they to the world at large

AMES VS PEASE

It transpires that Senator Morton's resolution directing the Federal Government to take charge of the politics of the State of Mississippi, and prevent the legislature chosen by the people from exercising its legitimate functions, was the result of a pilgrimage of numerous individuals of the Ames faction to Washington Having by their misrule rendered themselves and the Republican party so odious that the people of Mississippi repudiated the whole crew by a majority of 25 000 they despaired of reinstating themselves by propitiating public sentiment, and resorted to the fountain of political power for a new lease of authority They went to the President and secured the removal of several of the Republican officials who had refused to uphold them in their questionable practices But ex Senator Pease the leader of the anti Ames wing, went forth with to Washington and, obtaining a hearing, set the truth before the President in such a manner that he consented to postpone the appointments till a further investigation could be had, and on their return reinstated the men he had removed. It is stated that the Pease party showed the President that the Ames government was so corrupt and inefficient that many Republicans, in sheer desperation, supported the Democratic ticket. It is said, also, that one of the agents on whose judgment and loyalty to the administration the President placed particular reliance for a true report of the state of affairs in Mississippi, on which he could base his action told the President that he considered the circumstances such as to justify any citizen of Mississippi in acting with the Democratic party till the faction of misrule and corruption was entirely extinguished With this showing the President concluded that Pease and his following were in the right in opposing Ames

Foiled in their efforts with the President the Ames party appeal to the Senate, where they have considerable strength During the recess they have been diligent in informing Senators of their side of the case and preparing for a general assault which it is expected will be made in a few days. They are untiring in their efforts to put Senators who will listen in them in possession of the [illegible] and facts of the case but [illegible] have [illegible] as Morton's [illegible] provides for The [illegible] enquire into the matter of [illegible] in the election in the Democratic [illegible] but not into anything done or left undone by the Ames party It is thought they will succeed so far as to prevent an investigation of Ames administration which perhaps may as well be allowed to pass into oblivion—but will not be able to force the passage of resolution to reorganize legislature

JONES AND GUIBORD

The friends of Jones whose right to be buried in Mount Moriah cemetery at Philadelphia has been denied by the trustees on account of his being a colored man, have obtained a writ of mandamus to compel the trustees to permit the burial An Eastern exchange says the opposition to the burial of Jones in a Philadelphia cemetery naturally recalls the Guibord difficulty in Montreal The points in which the two cases differ are not on the side of the trustees of the Philadelphia cemetery Guibord, while an orthodox Roman Catholic bought the right of burial in a Roman Catholic cemetery and it was asserted that when he fell under the censure of the church he forfeited that right. Jones, on the other hand, was at the time of his death of precisely the same color as he was when he bought his lots in Mount Moriah cemetery Had the latter cemetery been avowedly designed exclusively for white people—had Jones been white at the time of his purchase and had he afterward perversely become a colored man in spite of due warning and remonstrance—those who refused to give burial to his colored remains might have felt that they had at least as much show of justice for their course as had the Montreal Roman Catholics. But, inasmuch as Jones' color was fixed and familiar to every one when he bought his lot, the trustees who then received his money without the slightest protest—thinking perhaps that some lucky accident in connection with nitro glycerine might prevent the question of his actual burial from ever being raised—have now no shadow of sophistry with which to defend their attempt to defraud the dead man of his rights

THE PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Neither in the telegrams nor in the Eastern papers have we seen any direct statement of the removal of Gen Babcock from the position of Private Secretary to the President but from the following which appears in the Cincinnati Gazette we infer the President has recognized the manifest propriety of dismissing him

Mr Levi Luckey the new private secretary of the President is a gentleman who appropriately bears a most appropriate name His career has been an exceptionally lucky one from the first He came to Dixon Ill with his father seventeen or eighteen years ago when a mere lad and remained there for several years He attended the public schools there and subsequently graduated at the local academy While pursuing his studies he developed certain traits which in their full development must have fitted him particularly well for the position he now occupies His clerical abilities being something remarkable He was a wonderfully rapid writer and it is related of him by an old schoolmate that on one occasion when the value of short hand was to be demonstrated by a comparison of the relative speed of those who were and those who were not acquainted with the art he rather spoiled the exhibition by nearly keeping up with his competitors, though using long hand After leaving school Luckey acted for some time in the capacity of clerk at Dixon and finally went to Washington to serve as the secretary of E B Washburne The relations they formed resulted in his appointment on the clerical force of the Executive Department and upon Babcock's indictment in a selection for the latter's place There are certain wild passages in the early life of Luckey and one affair which did not redound to his credit at first—might be named but the sowing of his wild oats resulted it appears in no real harm to anybody while against his honesty and reliability nothing has ever been said The charges that his relations with Babcock have been otherwise than proper are but rumors, as yet unsubstantial

Statistics just published of the Lowell (Mass) mills show that there are 800 000 spindles and 17 759 looms 10 500 female and 7 000 male operatives 3 100 000 yards of goods are produced per week 60 000 yards of woolens 40 000 yards of carpeting 2 500 shawls and 20 000 dozens of hosiery that there are consumed weekly 930 000 pounds of cotton and 152 000 pounds of wool the number of yards dyed and printed per annum is 89,890 000 Nearly all these items are in excess over last year's figures and some of them very considerably

It will be remembered that six of the crew of the ship Orpheus which was wrecked on Vancouver Island some time ago made a charge against Capt Sawyer alleging that he had willfully cast away his ship Upon this charge he was arrested and examined before the United States Commissioner at San Francisco. After hearing the evidence the commissioner held that the United States had not made out a case against him and on motion of the District Attorney Mr Van Duren he was discharged

We are called upon to apologise to Senators Morton and Morrill for attributing the speech of the latter on the currency to the former Mr Morton was not guilty of making the sensible remarks which were credited to him It was our mistake and we ought to have known better

The New York Times says, if the depredations of Mexicans on our people are not stopped by the Mexican government they should be stopped by a strong aggressive war by our government which is just the right thing to say

All who have seen Senator Logan's photograph will appreciate the story told by the Boston Post that once in a game of poker Logan held three jacks—jack of hearts jack of diamonds and jack of clubs After running the bets up to the limit and calling, Logan found that his opponent had four legs when with true military fertility of resource Logan furtively took out of his pocket one of his own photographs and played it upon his unsuspecting opponent for the jack of spades thereby holding four jacks and sweeping the board

CITY.

PORTLAND LIBRARY This worthy institution has undergone a decided change in the past month at the hands of carpenters painters and upholsterers The main room or library has been enlarged some twenty feet and additional shelving put up for the accommodation of the increased supply of books, which are now better arranged than heretofore. In this room a new carpet has been laid and the walls brightened The front portion of the room has been partitioned off, and here the eastern and foreign magazines and weeklies are kept In the corner room connected by an arched doorway, other papers are distributed on files along the walls and on the [illegible]stands arranged for the purpose. These rooms are well supplied with light and are made comfortable in other respects The room formerly occupied by the Y M C A will be fitted in order this week for accommodation of those who have been deprived of the smoking room, and where chess and checkers form the [illegible]ments. About 8,000 volumes are now on the shelves, and the supply of papers and magazines is complete. New publications are added weekly. Some 300 members are attending, besides a large perpetual membership The rooms are open daily from 9 A M to 10 P M., on Sunday the library proper being closed. Mr H A Oxer continues as librarian, a position he fills to the satisfaction of all Strangers will meet with every attention

SPURRY.—This is a good substitute for clover, recommended by the commissioner of agriculture in his report of 1864 tried by Mr F A. Geary, of Cowlitz county (W T) Spurry (Spergula arvensis) is most admirably adapted for sandy soils, so much so that it has been called "The clover of sandy lands" It will grow well upon sandy soils that are too poor, dry and thin to bear clover According to Albert Thaer, the greatest agriculturalist of Germany milch cows and sheep fed on it yield superior milk, butter and mutton For winter pasturage it is usually sown broadcast on the harrowed stubble of grain crops just [illegible] from the ground. Mr Geary last spring obtained some seed from Germany and sowed it on his farm on the Columbia river, it grew about 18 to 22 inches high, and yielded largely in seed. From one half pound he got over 100 pounds of clear seed The seed is very oily, and, therefore very nutritious it is in Germany, France and Belgium even used for the manufacture of oil A small quantity of seed is for sale at O Connor s grocery

NEW HOSE CARRIAGES —Fire companies Nos 1 and 4 must feel proud over the new hose carriages which were turned over to their care last week. The vehicles are large and substantial, and reflect credit upon the builder E. S. G. Bunting, of this city, at whose manufactory they were constructed. The delay in finishing the carriages was attributed to the failure of parties East in furnishing material for the wheels. The carriages were constructed with a view to service not ornament and [illegible] about them consists of the most [illegible] material, Many improvements which render the working of the reels and the motions of the vehicles complete, were [illegible] and fully carried out. We congratulate the companies upon the acquisition, and the builder on the excellence of the work

[illegible] CEMENT —An old Oregonian writing from San Francisco, says The extensive [illegible] cement deposit in Douglas county is considered here very valuable for the manufacture of artificial stone, and will some day [illegible] Portland cement for that or any other purpose The large buildings which are put up in San Francisco of this kind of stone are superior to three fourths of the available stones on this coast from the fact that it will harden more or less every day and will not perish as some free stones do This is certainly a big thing for Oregon

SAILORS ROW —Yesterday afternoon several drunken sailors got into a general row at the Howard Saloon corner of D and North First streets, Two of them "shed their linen" and were engaged in the interesting pastime of [illegible] each others' countenances when Officer Hudson appeared on the scene. He proceeded to arrest four of the ringleaders in the disturbance, and after a long and rough fight, succeeded in taking them to jail where they were lodged for the night This morning they will be required to answer a charge of disorderly conduct

In compliance with the first telegram, Mr Thomas Frazer and Harrison Linville were appointed route agents But one trip was made, when Mr. Cole was ordered to discontinue the service until further instructions. No reason have been given yet for countermanding the order.

The members and friends of the Presbyterian church of this city enjoyed a rare intellectual treat last evening on the occasion of their pastor's, Rev H P Peck, lecture on "The Home of the Pines." It was one of the finest efforts we have listened to for many a day and was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. It is to be hoped he will repeat it at an early day and give our citizens a more general opportunity of hearing it At the conclusion of the lecture refreshments were served and a social time indulged in The proceeds amounted to over $40 which will be devoted to church purposes

THE BEECHER-MOULTON MUTUAL COUNCIL

We have by the Eastern press full particulars of the proceedings of the Plymouth Church business meeting on December 27th when Mrs Moulton's second demand for a mutual council was presented and considered In anticipation no doubt of something more than usually interesting the attendance was much larger than usual and included many persons who have no relations with the church After the reading of the minutes of the last previous meeting when reports of committees were called for Mr Shearman the clerk presented the report of the examining committee This he said was accompanied by another document, which he would read first He then read the following:

BROOKLYN Dec 25 1875

Dear Sir I have been very reluctant to write any further to the members of Plymouth Church; as my last letter was refused a reading before them on the motion of Mr Beecher after the clerk had told them publicly that it was in his hands, and as much violent feeling was excited by it after it was published But I have wished very much and still wish to have the proposal contained in the inclosed memorandum considered by the church or the committee, and to know if they will not agree to it

Will you therefore, have the kindness to present it for me, and to inform me of their answer? Yours, very truly,

EMMA C MOULTON

Mr Thomas J Tilney, Clerk of the Plymouth Church

MEMORANDUM

I know very well, and have known from the beginning, that I can only justify myself for my long and intentional absence from the services of the church by showing fully the reasons which moved me to it This therefore I proposed to do in my first letter to the church in which I asked for a council chosen by both parties, before which the church should state the reasons for its action and I should state the reasons for mine and which should judge impartially of both

The church appeared to agree to this proposal but at the same meeting without the slightest conference with me and with a haste which struck me as strange it adopted the questions which it would insist on having presented to such a council I have considered these questions and as I understand them, they give me no chance at all to show why I was so long absent from the church I do not see how they could well have been framed more carefully to prevent me from doing this. Yet this is the most important thing in my whole case Still I did not object to these questions, but I asked that others be added to them under which I could show just why I had done as I had, and so could justify myself if my reasons were found sufficient This request the committee deliberated upon a good while and then recommended that it be refused The church accordingly refused it with a good deal of vehemence and I seem to be allowed no voice whatever in framing the questions which are to be submitted for myself, as well as for the church, to the council I am not certain that I know what my rights are in such a matter, but this really seems to me oppressive and wholly one-sided I cannot even tell the council what it is on which I want to have its opinion

I still desire, however if possible to state my case, and to have the church state its case before such a body chosen by both parties, and so large in number and respectable in character that it will secure public confidence As then the questions arranged by the church are not satisfactory to me, giving me no opportunity to show the reasons for my course and as the questions proposed by me are not acceptable to the church, I propose that the council be convened with no distinct questions before it except these two, which are both contained in my first letter, to which the church was understood to agree

The action of the church in dropping me from its membership as it did—are its reasons for this valid and sufficient?

My action in abstaining so long from the services and sacraments of the church while I did not wish to withdraw from its membership—were my reasons for this valid and sufficient?

Either the one or the other of these questions might be considered first by the council as it should deem best But I should wish both to be considered, and such recommendations to be made by the council to either party as it should see fit If the church is willing as I at first understood it to be to meet me on this ground before such a council I shall be glad If it is not I suppose I must seek other means for that vindication of myself, of which, in the end I feel as sure as I do of God's justice

I think, I ought to add that the latest attack made on me in the letter of the church, declaring that I had been as irregular and uncareful in my church attendance before 1871 as since is wholly without foundation in fact or in any testimony which I have given It seems to me to have been a mere afterthought as the previous letter of the church made no mention of any such charge. But if the committee think they have any proof of it I shall be perfectly ready to have it presented to the council.

I desire to add, also, that my statement that I had long ago declared to a leading member and officer of the church that Mr Beecher's crime was adultery and that both he and Mrs Tilton had confessed it to me, is strictly true, and has been confirmed more than once by the gentlemen to whom I referred

Mr Shearman then read the following report from the examining committee

The examining committee hereby respectfully reports That, in pursuance of the order of the church at the last session of its annual meeting a memorandum made by Mrs Emma C Moulton and received by the clerk of the church at a late hour on Christmas Day has been laid before the committee. In this memorandum Mrs Moulton complains that the questions extracted by the church from her first letter of Nov 12 are unsatisfactory to her, and asserts that they give her no chance at all to show why she was so long absent from the church The church on its part, having declined to accept the four questions framed by Mrs. Moulton in her later letter she now proposes that all the questions heretofore suggested be withdrawn and that two questions only be submitted to the council which are in substance

First—Whether the reasons of the church for dropping her were sufficient? and

Second—Whether her reasons for abandoning the services of the church were sufficient

The committee has from the first been anxious to secure the call of a mutual council upon Mrs Moulton's case For this purpose the church adopted all the issues which could possibly be extracted from Mrs. Moulton's first letter and no fair minded person of ordinary intelligence and accustomed to judge of the meaning of language can fail to see that the six questions which the church agreed to submit to the mutual council covered all and more than all the issues which Mrs Moulton has now selected for submission The church in proposing the acceptance of those questions did so with full knowledge that they did and with a deliberate intention that they should put it in the power of the mutual council when called to open as broad a field of investigation as anyone could possibly desire

When Mrs Moulton sought to add to these questions four others this committee was extremely desirous of accepting those also if possible, and its delay in advising the church was caused by the earnest attempt to reconcile the acceptance of Mrs. Moulton's questions with the dignity and self respect of the church The committee finally advised against the acceptance of these questions not because they broadened the issue but because they tended to narrow it, and to limit the council by the assumption of certain statements as facts which the committee and the church agree in believing were not facts

The church has never suggested any questions of its own devising It has simply attempted to put into proper form the issues presented by Mrs Moulton in her own letters. The present action of Mrs Moulton in withdrawing all questions heretofore suggested by her and in proposing two questions which are free from the objection of assuming facts as was the case in her former proposal offers an opportunity to secure a mutual council of which this committee gladly avails itself while her proposed questions are somewhat objectionable in form and not in substance yet the committee unanimously recommend that these objections should be overlooked and that for the purpose of avoiding the possibility of further controversy Mrs Moulton's questions should be adopted by this church word for word and that the letter missive should be framed as to take in those questions without the slightest alteration Notwithstand the course of Mrs Moulton in refusing to comply with the request of the church to meet the examining committee for conference as to the number and name of churches to be called and in undertaking, by correspondence to fix the number of churches seems to the committee unusual and irregular yet they recommend that the number of churches to be invited be at once fixed in accordance with the number specified by Mrs Moulton

The committee had hoped to make such arrangements as to allow the council to be convened in the first week of January but as circumstances appear to make this impracticable they now recommend that the assembling of the advisory council be postponed until after the mutual council has been held which, if no further and unexpected delays occur should be in the second week of January. The committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution

Resolved That this church accedes to the request of Mrs. Emma C Moulton for the call of a mutual council to advise this church and Mrs Moulton upon the two questions submitted by her in her memorandum of Dec 25, 1875 which are in the following words

The action of the church in dropping me from its membership as it did—are its reasons for this valid and sufficient?

My action in abstaining so long from the services and sacraments of the church while I did not wish to withdraw from its membership—were my reasons for this valid and sufficient?

Resolved That a special committee of five be appointed by the moderator, who shall have power and authority in the name and on behalf of this church, to prepare and issue letters missive for the calling of the mutual council thereby assented to and that the committee are directed to meet at such time and place to-morrow evening as shall be designated by the chairman of the committee and the clerk of the church is hereby directed to notify Mrs Moulton forthwith of the time and place of such meeting and to invite her to be present in person or by her representative, for the purpose of drawing up and signing the proper letter missive

Resolved That the said committee are hereby fully authorized and directed to select the churches and ministers to be convened in mutual council to the number heretofore specified by Mrs Moulton and to issue the letters missive to an equal number of churches and ministers to be named by Mrs Moulton and they are further directed to appoint the meeting of the said council for the earliest practicable day

Resolved That the clerk of this church is hereby instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions immediately to Mrs Moulton

The report and resolutions were adopted by a raising of hands

There are but few matters for comment in our local money market to-day the general feeling being that rather more ease is felt as the year progresses though there is but little prospect of any reaction of the rates at which accommodations either in the way of discounts or loans can be obtained These rates are not now considered high and in comparison with those which have prevailed in former years are actually lower than average The supply of funds is regarded as ample to meet the wants of trade which at this particular season are not large With the surplus products of the coast and of Oregon especially which are yet to be marketed together with the revenue from the mines our people ought to enjoy a time of good prosperity during the year upon which we have just entered

The general superintendent of Wells Fargo & Co J J Valentine, has just published the annual statement of the production of precious metals in the States and Territories west of the Missouri river including British Columbia and the west coast of Mexico during the year 1875 which shows an aggregate yield of $80 889 057 being an excess of $6 587 96[illegible] over that of 1874 which was the greatest annual yield in the history of the coast. The yield in Nevada Colorado Mexico Oregon British Columbia, Montana and Arizona increased and in California Idaho Utah and Washington Territory it decreased The increase is actual except for Mexico Oregon and Arizona where it is apparent rather than real as compared with other years—the regular product being accounted for and reported which was hitherto omitted The decrease in California is in the main occasioned by a stinted supply of water for placer and hydraulic mining Present prospects indicate an aggregate yield of $90 000 000 for 1876 of which Nevada will doubtless produce $50 000 000

Our Produce Market

Has undergone no change in rates to day though there is a weaker tendency of breadstuffs under continued depressing advices from abroad Receipts are kept up to about the average volume but mostly of purchases made prior to the last decline since which time transactions have been confined to a small number About the best price here at this time is one dollar per bushel including sacks Oats are in active demand, and offers are a little better Shipments of the latter cereal are by no means as large as usual and it is estimated that the surplus in the State is not as great as last year by at least per cent Mill feed is in better supply at our quotations hay tending downward with receipts equal to the wants of the market Provisions duller and prices unchanged Eggs are still held at 40 cents as the jobbing rate but will probably be considerably lower next week
